THEY WERE INDIANS.

All Doubts Solved About Hardie's Murderers.

Return of Lieutenants McGrath and Fitch.

They Followed the Trail to Within Four Miles of the Mexican Line.

By the Associated Press:

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Chronicle's Tombstone, Arizona, special says: The assertion of General Grierson that no Indians were out and that Hardie had not been killed by Apaches was disposed of today by the arrival of Lieutenants McGrath and Fitch from the Mexican line. Fitch said:

"I was ordered to Rucker Canyon after Hardie's murder, and arrived there to find that Lieutenant McGrath and Bowie had been there before me, and was on the trail of the Apaches. I followed him and camped the same night with him near Leslie's ranch. The next day we came up to the dead mare and colt. The latter had been skinned and all the flesh picked off. Both animals had been stabbed to death, no doubt to save ammunition. The animals had been stolen.

"We followed the trail to within four miles of the line when a heavy sand storm covered it. We remained there till yesterday morning when orders came from Bowie by heliograph saying for Lieutenant McGrath and myself to return to our posts. There is no question about the murderers of Hardie being Indians. The trail indicates that there were at least five of them. They have gone into Mexico. I don't know why we were ordered back to our quarters.

ARMING SIGNAL FIRES.

Indications that There is to Be a General Uprising.

Judging from the following, from the Tombstone Epitaph of May 31, the Apache question along the border is becoming very serious, and particularly is this the case if, as stated, the Indians have mustered the theory of heliograph and are using that knowledge to mislead the troops:

"Last evening, between 9 and 10 o'clock, some of our citizens saw fires in the Whitehouse mountains, which, from the way they were handled, were undoubtedly Indian signal fires, probably to communicate with another band in the Chiricahua. The fires were on the highest peak of the mountains, and after being allowed to blaze up for a short time were suddenly extinguished. It is evident that this is a fresh band direct from the reservation, who will make their way into Sonora on the other side of the Huachuca, and when across the line join those already there.

"James Price arrived in town last evening from the eastern part of the county. On the Friday preceding the killing of Mr. Hardie he struck the trail of the band that did the killing, and the trail, instead of leading toward the reservation, was leading away from it and toward Sonora, showing that the murderers were not the band that has been raiding along the border, but a fresh lot direct from the reservation. After killing Hardie they stole nine head of horses from Frank Leslie's old ranch. William Reynolds, who has charge of the ranch, missing the horses, started in search of them, and found the Indian trail, which he followed for some distance, coming to a place where they had killed a colt and roasted it.

"At this place there were six small fires, and judging from this and the size of the trail it is presumed that there were at least six Indians in the party. The only part of the colt left were the head and bones, the Indians carrying off the hide and flesh. Following the trail, Mr. Reynolds came to a place where the Indians had killed and eaten another colt, and also found a mare that had been killed. Two of the horses came back to the ranch completely used up, showing that the Indians had traveled rapidly. They abandoned at the ranch an Indian pony, broken down, which is another evidence that they were direct from the reservation. One day during the week a detachment of troops came to Leslie's ranch and Mr. Reynolds put them on the trail. At present there are three bodies of troops camped at different points along the border, but it is not likely they will accomplish anything, as the number is insufficient.

"What is needed is at least a thousand soldiers and a renewal of the agreement with Mexico, to allow the troops of each nation to cross the line at will in pursuit of Indians. It is only by such a method that any hope can be entertained of killing or capturing them.

"It is also reported that the Indians have fattened the mystery of the heliograph, and with looking-glasses are using the stations for their own purposes and to mislead the troops, thus further complicating matters.

"Taking everything into consideration, and without in the least wishing to exaggerate the gravity of the situation, it would appear that we are on the eve of another Indian campaign that promises to be as long, disastrous and costly as the one that resulted in the capture and deportation of Geronimo, and the citizens ask that General Miles leave the ease of his headquarters in San Francisco and assume personal direction of operations.

"But the only way by which our Indian troubles can ever be permanently settled is by the removal of the Indians on the White Mountain reservation to the Indian Territory. Southern Arizona can never rest in security until this is done. It is possible, however, that it is Mexican bandits who have mastered the heliograph system, and who are using the knowledge for their own purposes."

HE PRESERVED ORDER.

How Major Neustatter Fought a Drunken Ruffian.

Major Neustatter, Deputy United States Marshal, is a gentleman of marked bravery.

The gentleman demonstrated that fact while he was a passenger on the down train to Maricopa one day last week. It seems that on the same train there left the city for Tucson, where they were booked to take part in the Memorial Day parade, a number of the negro regular troops who had been here in attendance upon the court as witnesses. The negroes—or several of them—were very drunk. There were a large number of ladies on board the train, and the negroes were exceedingly noisy and profane. Major Neustatter, in behalf of the ladies, remonstrated with the ruffians. They impudently resented his remonstrance, and grew worse. Major Neustatter warned them more strongly to desist. All of them obeyed him but one, who rolled out a perfect torrent of profanity. Then the Major took a different line—and the next thing that colored troops knew he didn't know much of anything. After that he kept quiet.

An Official Visit.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 2.—The board of visitors to the Naval Academy were officially received this morning with the usual honors.

REPUBLICAN OREGON.

HELMAN TO SUCCEED HIMSELF IN CONGRESS.

The Vote on Governor Very Close—The Returns So Far Indicate the Election of Thompson, Republican.

PORTLAND, June 2.—An election was held in this State today for Congressmen and State and county officers, including members of the Legislature, who will elect a successor to John H. Mitchell, in the United States Senate. The contest for Governor has been one of the most bitter in the history of the State, both candidates making a thorough canvass of the State. Messrs. returns received at 8:30 p. m., from the whole State indicate the election of Berger Herrman, Republican, for Congress by 4,000 to 6,000 majority. The vote on Governor will be close, and reports received seem to favor Penoyer, Democrat. The remainder of the Republican State ticket is probably elected.

PENDLETON, Or., June 2.—The full vote shows heavy scratching on Penoyer. He will probably carry the county by 400. The rest of the Democratic State ticket carries the county by a small majority. Webb, candidate for treasurer, will carry the county by 300. The county ticket is divided.

SALEM, Or., June 2.—This city will probably give Thompson (Republican), for governor, 450 majority. The legislative ticket is solidly Republican, with probably one exception.

PORTLAND, Or., June 2.—The vote as counted up to 1 o'clock in this city gives Thompson (Republican), for governor, 1226; Penoyer (Democrat), 1176. On the legislative ticket, Cole (Democrat) claims this county by 500, but the Republicans still claim the county by a small majority. The count is progressing very slowly, owing to the large amount of scratching.

THE FIRST WHEAT.

Pima Indians Beat the World's Record for New Wheat.

New wheat on the second day of June! Certainly there is no portion of the United States that can beat, or even equal, this.

Yesterday there came into the city from the Pima reservation a party of about twenty Indians, each driving before him a burro upon the back of each of which was packed two sacks of new wheat, bright and clean, just threshed. These Indians, although some of them are supplied with tools by the government, as a rule farm and harvest their crops by the crudest methods—and yet they are self-supporting farmers and have been such for hundreds of years. In fact, they are more than self-supporting, for in exceptionally good years there has been raised on the reservation more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat, leaving the Indians a handsome surplus over their own needs. The wheat brought in yesterday, forty sacks, was disposed of at good prices to Phoenix merchants.

England's Old Game.

HALIFAX, June 2.—A war rumor was current today that advice had been received from England that a regiment of the line and two batteries of artillery are about to sail for New Foundland in view of the troubles there. Two torpedo boats are expected to arrive from England this month and a fleet of war ships arrived today from Bermuda.

RAILROAD'S VICTIMS.

Dunn Is Responsible for the Oakland Horror?

The Railroad Company Also Blamed.

Signal Service Report—Fresno Fire—No Solution of the Flaming Murder Mystery Yet.

By the Associated Press:

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The coroner's inquest in the matter of the railroad catastrophe in Oakland on Memorial Day began this afternoon. Charles O'Brien, fireman of the wrecked train, was the first witness. He testified that he had never seen Engineer Dunn in liquor. The drawbridge through which the train went at the time of the accident could be seen from the witness' side of the engine at the shipyard and he felt sure it was closed when the train left there. The engineer was on the train when the witness jumped, which was not until the engine went down. He had been running with the train only occasionally and couldn't say at what distance the danger signal could be discovered. The engine had hardly any speed on when they went up to the draw, and if they could have run ten yards further the train would have been stopped.

The bridge tender testified that the train was not in view when he opened the draw, though it could have been seen at the mole. He thought it was coming at a high rate of speed about 150 yards distant. He had been on the bridge about fifteen minutes and thought the engineer could see the signal about 300 feet away. He was closing the draw when the accident occurred. The signal flag (which was produced in evidence) was placed about twenty-six feet from the edge of the draw. The engine approached the draw at the rate of five or seven miles per hour. The bridge was within sixteen feet of being closed.

Several other witnesses were examined but their testimony contained few facts which had not already been made public. An effort was made to have Engineer Dunn present to relate the circumstances of the accident, but he could not be found. Conductor Davis testified that he knew nothing about the draw being open until the engine and car went into the water. He was running more than two miles an hour at the time. The jury rendered a verdict late tonight and found the victims of the accident caused by criminal negligence on the part of Engineer Dunn. The verdict further recites: "We find Engineer Dunn guilty of manslaughter. We also find that the railway company does not take sufficient precaution to signal its trains when approaching the drawbridge."

Signal Service Report.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Signal Service Bureau has issued its monthly bulletin for May, stating that the weather during the month has been generally favorable to growing crops of the Pacific Coast States, the light rains at the end of the month in Oregon and Washington being particularly beneficial. Rain fell in Northern California six days, in Southern California and in Oregon nine days and in Washington seven days. In Central and Southern California rains were light and local.

Fresno Fire.

FRESNO, Cal., June 2.—A fire was discovered this morning in a row of wooden buildings on H street and before the flames could be checked the whole block was destroyed, except the brick on the corner. Loss $5,000; insurance $1,500.

The Flaming Mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Coroner Rogan held an inquest this afternoon in the case of Mrs. May Flaming, found dead in her room in a lodging house two weeks ago with a bullet wound in her head. Edward Flaming, her husband, was found in the room slightly wounded, but is alive. He is now recovering and still claims that his wife shot him and then killed herself.

WORLD'S FAIR WORK.

The San Francisco Committee to Meet Again Today.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—At a meeting of the sub-committee of the World's Fair today a motion to defer the local organization for two weeks was lost. A motion to incorporate with $500,000 capital with shares of $1 each also failed to carry.

It was finally agreed, after much debate, to refer the whole matter to the general committee tomorrow. A resolution was offered by Mr. Jacobs providing for immediate incorporation of a local organization without capital stock.

All for Love.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Cornelius Lane, a teamster, was arrested today by Fire Marshal Law and charged with arson. Last Friday night a building, in process of construction on Sixth street, was burned to the ground. In this building Antonio Cappelli was about to start a saloon, which would have been taken from a saloon owned by Mrs. Cuneo. Lane is a friend of Mrs. Cuneo, and the fire marshal suspected that he had set fire to the building so as to prevent a rival getting into the neighborhood.

Fighting for Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—News was received today from the steamer Emily which has been over due from Coos Bay. Captain Roberts sent a dispatch from Rogue River that the steamer was leaking badly it was put in at Macks Arch, a small anchorage between Crescent City and Port Orford. All the pumps were kept going, but were unable to keep the vessel clear. The Captain expected to find a diver at Rogue River who could discover the whole in the hull caused by striking on the bar at Coos Bay, but was unsuccessful. As soon as the news was received here, the Underwriters chartered the tug Sea King to go to the assistance of the Emily. The Sea King left at 4 o'clock this afternoon in command of Captain Rasmussen, and Captain Wheeler went along as a relief Captain. Macks Arch, where the Emily is struggling to keep afloat, is about 520 miles to the northward of this port.

A Bad Boy.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Frank Anderson, a boy 17 years of age who has been employed as a messenger by the Western Union Telegraph Company, was arrested today for destroying two telegrams and embezzling $21. On last Friday a man at the Palace Hotel sent two dispatches to the telegraph office by Anderson and gave him $21 to pay charges for sending them. The boy gambled away the money in the pool rooms and then destroyed the messages. The sender made inquiries and an investigation led to Anderson's arrest. The boy acknowledged his guilt. His parents live in Los Angeles.

Chick, the Champion.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Martinez Chick of San Diego, defeated Captain Brewer, world's champion, in a pigeon shooting match at the Haight street ball grounds yesterday afternoon. Captain Brewer lost eight birds out of 100 and Chick allowed five to get over the boundary.

He Was Despondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Several policemen and friends of Sergeant S. C. Fleming, who shot himself at police headquarters Sunday, testified today before the coroner's jury to his despondency and long-suffering from an acute disease. A verdict of suicide was returned.

A Famous Miner Gone.

GRASS VALLEY, June 2.—John Lord died here this afternoon. He was one of the oldest residents and was well known in mining circles all over the coast. He was the foreman of the Allison Ranch mine while that famous property was in operation. He was about 60 years of age.

Serious Ranch Fire.

MILTON, Cal., June 2.—Fire on M. S. Taipeys ranch southeast of here destroyed his barn and hay crop, seven head of horses, wagons and a large amount of machinery. The cause of the fire is unknown.

PAID BY EVERYBODY.

A DETECTIVE WHO DREW TWO GOOD SALARIES.

Sideways Working for Uncle Sam He Goes Into a Little Side Business on His Own Account.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—A dispatch from Portland a few weeks ago stated that Fritz Schwartz, alias F. Staley, had been arrested in that city by Government Detective William Baumgartner. It was charged that he deserted from the United States army in San Francisco two years ago, and had then gone to San Diego. A few months later he returned to San Francisco and married Miss Emily Jacobowitz. He lived with his wife a short time and with her money bought a wine room on Mission street. Last December he sold out and went to Portland, leaving a number of creditors here. Detective Baumgartner has returned from Portland, but did not bring his prisoner with him. It seems that the detective, besides drawing pay from the government, has been liberally paid by the wifery works, maps, manuscripts and official documents relating to the history and civilization of America and expressed his desire that the government of the United States should provide a suitable building for such library, to be dedicated on the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America. Mr. Blaine, in his letter, recommends that Congress appropriate $250,000 to provide a safe and suitable building to receive and protect the proposed collection, which building may also be used for an office for the proposed internal bureau of information, and a hall or assembly room for the accommodation of such international bodies as the two conferences that have just adjourned.

A Grand Memorial Library.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The President today sent to Congress the letter of the Secretary of State, relative to the recommendation made by the recent Pan-American conference on the subject of Caston's regulations. The President's letter, forthrightly recommending the length and also states that the conference, at its final session, decided to establish in Washington as a fitting memorial of its labors a library to be formed by contribution from the several nations of historical, geographical and literary works, maps, manuscripts and official documents relating to the history and civilization of America and expressed his desire that the government of the United States should provide a suitable building for such library, to be dedicated on the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America. Mr. Blaine, in his letter, recommends that Congress appropriate $250,000 to provide a safe and suitable building to receive and protect the proposed collection, which building may also be used for an office for the proposed internal bureau of information, and a hall or assembly room for the accommodation of such international bodies as the two conferences that have just adjourned.

To Bid for the Cruisers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Capt. W. H. Taylor, President and L. R. Mead, Secretary of the Raddon Iron Works, leave this city today for Washington, to submit bids for the 5,155 and 5,205-ton cruisers, the bids for which are to be opened June 10.

THE LAW-MAKERS.

Discussing the Silver Bill in the Senate.

Morrill of Vermont Opposing Free Coinage.

Army Appropriation Bills Passed—The House Passes a Bill That Will Help Arizona.

By the Associated Press:

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A conference was ordered on the naval appropriation bill.

The Senate bill to grant a right of way through public lands for irrigation purposes was reported and placed on the calendar.

Plumb introduced a bill prepared by St. John of New York, for the purchase of silver. Referred.

Davis gave notice he would tomorrow ask the Senate to consider the fortification bill.

The silver bill was then taken up, and Morrill addressed the Senate. He said the wage workers of the United States were to be counted by the millions and were the most numerous class of the country. It was that class it was now proposed to pay off in a cheaper or in a depreciated standard money and to require them to pay higher prices for everything they had to buy.

"Could there be anything," he asked, "more likely in all parts of the country, at an early age to provoke strikes for higher wages. The silver miners of Nevada and Colorado wanted everything about gold stricken out and simply say 'we want 40 per cent. more profit.' He believed by wise and moderate legislation a sufficient amount of silver might be utilized and yet the metallic standard be maintained. He did not want to have the United States divorced from the commercial world, but that was not the policy of those who led off in the debate. Their transparent design was to go by a single bound to the silver standard, and the country was to have but a single standard he preferred the standard should be gold rather than silver.

He would, however, like to have both maintained with the expectation that with a very liberal increase of silver and, with good management on the part of the Treasury Department, the result would be to preserve silver, by its advancing a good deal and gold receding somewhat in value. Mr. Morrill argued against the proposition to issue legal tender treasury notes in exchange for silver as unconstitutional. The conference report on the military academy appropriation bill was agreed to.

Conference report on the army appropriation bill was again taken up and the question in regard to canteens discussed. Mr. Allison, who presented the report, spoke in defense of it. Mr. Hale predicted if the canteen system went into effect it would last but a little while. Plumb suggested that the movement against the canteens was the interest of the post riders. Hale said it was a serious and grave question whether the United States government should, for the first time, embark in the selling of liquor to its soldiers. Mr. George remarked if the proposition could not be made to apply to officers as well he would vote to strike the whole thing out. The conference report was agreed to. Yeas 55, nays 8; the nays being Messrs. Blair, Colquett, Dixon, George, Hale, Sanders, Teller and Turpie.

The silver bill was again taken up and Mr. Harris addressed the Senate. He said he should vote for the coinage of silver and if he failed in securing that he should support the nearest approximation to it that he might be able to secure. The silver bill went over till tomorrow and the Senate after an executive session adjourned.

The House.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The bill passed granting the Portland & Puget Sound Railway Company right of way through the Puysallup Indian reservation.

On motion the rules were suspended and the House passed a bill transferring the expense of Indian trials for crimes committed on other Indians in a Territory, from the Territory to the United States. Such a law will be of benefit to Arizona.

The following bills were passed: Senate bill granting an American register to the steamer Australia of California; providing for an additional Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico. On motion of Mr. Morrill the Senate bill was passed relieving the Union Iron Works of San Francisco, from certain penalties (amounting to $33,000) incurred in the construction of the new cruiser Charleston. Adjourned.

To Bid for the Cruisers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Capt. W. H. Taylor, President and L. R. Mead, Secretary of the Raddon Iron Works, leave this city today for Washington, to submit bids for the 5,155 and 5,205-ton cruisers, the bids for which are to be opened June 10.

MARLOW'S WILL.

A Contest in Prospect Over the Estate.

A very pretty contest is promised over the estate of George Marlow, the rich cattle man who recently died in this city.

Marlow was married shortly before his death, and it seems that prior to his marriage he had made a will bequeathing all his property to his brother, now in Canada.

Now Mr. Oscar L. Gibbs and J. Marlow have applied to the Probate Court for letters testamentary to issue to them. C. F. Ainsworth is the attorney for the applicants. Meanwhile the legatees under the will is now on the way here and, as soon as he arrives, will, through his attorneys, Baker & Campbell, present the will for probate. The estate is valued at something over $100,000.

FAVORING CHINESE.

Rev. Baldwin Thinks They Ought Not to be Excluded.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Rev. Dr. L. S. Baldwin of the Methodist Missionary Society, lectured yesterday on the subject of "Must the Chinese Go." He said that the Chinese government did not make the suggestion to the United States that their people be permitted to emigrate to this country. The suggestion came from the United States and at that time the Chinamen were especially needed and welcomed in California. He built railways, did a workman's duty every where and added $200,000,000 to the value of her lands by irrigation and drainage, and yet she, who has derived more benefit from the Chinamen than any State, is led by hoodlums to cry out against them.

In the last twenty-five years this country has accumulated only 200,000 Chinamen, yet within the past year we get hundreds of thousands of other foreigners as immigrants. The Chinese in California earn $9,000,000 a year and send home $2,000,000, yet the speaker had heard John Boyle O'Reilly of Boston declare with every manifestation of pride that the Irishmen in this country sent $70,000,000 a year to their families in Ireland. It is said that they will not become citizens, yet there is a law which deprives them of the right to become such.

MASSSES FOR THE DEAD.

Funeral Services for the Victims of the Oakland Accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Services in memory of the victims of the Oakland disaster were held in this city today. A solemn high requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Mary B. Connor. Similar services were held at St. John's church in memory of the Kern sisters, and at St. Dominic's church in memory of the late Assistant Chief Wharfinger Martin Kelley. Funerals over some victims were held in Oakland yesterday, all being largely attended.

A LONG SESSION.

The Senate Will Probably Talk Tariff for a Month.

NEW YORK, June 2.—A Washington dispatch to the Mail and Express says: Major McKinley said this afternoon: "I believe the silver bill will become a law this session, although it is not a sure thing by any means. There is a demand for it in every direction and I do not think we ought to adjourn before the silver bill is passed. The House will devote itself to the measure within a few days. Yes, this will be a long session. We will not adjourn, in my judgment, until late in August. The Senate will talk tariff for a whole month. I presume. No, I don't believe we will pass either the federal election law or the anti-gerrymander bill."

They Should Be Bounced.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Grave charges have been made against the government pleuro-pneumonia inspectors in Hudson and Bergen counties, New Jersey. It is said that they are not only not trying to stamp it out, but that they are taking pains to propagate the disease. Whenever they find a herd of cattle infected they slaughter them and sell the carcasses at reduced rates to butchers in league with the inspectors, thus making a double profit out of their positions, and jeopardizing the lives of thousands of people. The inspectors also have cattle for sale which they drive long distances, infecting all the places along the roads to places of slaughter not in their districts. These herds may have only one or two infected cattle in the lot, which are left along the road to spread the disease. Congressman McAdoo will ask for a thorough investigation.

Appointments Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Senate, in executive session, has confirmed the following nominations:

Geo. J. Wallace of Missouri, to be Consul General at Melbourne.
Rouneville Wildman of Idaho, to be Consul at Singapore.
Collectors of internal revenue—Levy A. Hughes, District of New Mexico; J. H. Mills, District of Montana.
Anton Merlich, to be treasurer of the land office at Central City, Colorado.
